Distribution of powers between federal and provincial governments(Provincial autonomy):

Provincial autonomy means giving provinces within a country powers to self-govern in specific areas, managing their own affairs like local administration, law and order, and development, with reduced interference from the central government.)

Distribution of Powers (Pakistan – 1973 Constitution)Meaning

Distribution of powers refers to the constitutional division of legislative, administrative, and financial authority between the Federal Government and the Provincial Governments in a federal system.

Pakistan follows a federal system under Article 1 of the Constitution.

Constitutional Basis of Distribution

The powers are distributed through:

- Article 142
 - Fourth Schedule of the Constitution

Legislative Powers (to make, amend and repeal laws) (MOST IMPORTANT)Article 142

Legislative powers are divided into three lists:

1. Federal Legislative List (FLL)

Authority: Parliament (President, national assembly and senate) only

Location: Fourth Schedule – Part I & II

Subjects include:

- Defense
- Foreign affairs
- Currency & coinage
- Citizenship
- Railways
- Post & telecommunication
- Nuclear energy
- National planning
- Federal taxes
- Ports, shipping, aviation

Key Point:

Provinces cannot legislate (making, amending, or repealing laws) on these subjects.

2. Provincial Legislative Powers

Authority: Provincial Assemblies

Subjects not mentioned in Federal List

Examples:

- Police
- Law and order
- Health
- Education (after 18th Amendment)
- Agriculture
- Local government
- Culture
- Public welfare

Article 142(c):

Provinces have exclusive power over provincial subjects.

(Under Article 142(c), the Provinces have the power to legislate on everything else that is not on the Federal List)

3. Concurrent Legislative List (ABOLISHED)

- Existed before 18th Constitutional Amendment (2010)
- Both Federal & Provincial governments could legislate
- Federal law had supremacy in case of conflict
- Contained 47 subjects

After 18th Amendment:

- Concurrent List abolished
- Subjects transferred to provinces

Exam Line:

“The abolition of the Concurrent List strengthened provincial autonomy.”

Administrative Powers

Federal Government:

- Administers federal subjects
- Controls:
 - Armed forces
 - Foreign policy
 - National institutions

Provincial Governments:

- Administer provincial subjects
- Headed by Chief Minister
- Maintain:
 - Police
 - Education departments
 - Health services

Article 137:

Executive authority of provinces extends to matters they can legislate on.

Financial Powers

Federal Government:

- Major sources of revenue:
 - Income tax
 - Customs duty
 - Sales tax

- Excise duty
- Prepares National Budget

Provincial Governments:

- Sources:
 - Property tax
 - Agricultural tax
 - Motor vehicle tax
- Prepare Provincial Budgets

NFC Award (National Finance Commission Award):

- Distribution of financial resources between federation and provinces
- Based on:
 - Population
 - Poverty
 - Revenue generation
 - Backwardness

Role of Council of Common Interests (CCI):

CCI resolve disputes and ensures coordination between the Federal Government and Provincial Governments on matters of shared or common interest.

Compositions:

- PM (chairman)
- CM(of all provinces)
- Federal nominees (equal representation)

Constitutional Basis

- Article 153: Establishment of CCI
- Article 154: Functions and powers

Functions & Powers:

- Resolves disputes between federation and provinces
- Supervision of Common Subjects which includes:
 - Electricity
 - Oil and gas
 - Water resources
 - Mineral resources
 - Major industrial projects
- Ensures coordination

Residuary Powers (the part which is leftover):

Article 142(c)

- Powers not mentioned in Federal List belong to provinces
- Under Article 142(c), the Provinces have the power to legislate on everything else that is not on the Federal List so as powers is open domain which includes everything (infinite).
- Strengthens federal structure (q ka federal risky or unfair laws (legislate) nahi kara ga jab uska pass power nahi hai so overtime federal structure theek raha ga.)

Emergency & Federal Supremacy

Emergency Powers:

- During national emergency, federal government may assume (take over) provincial powers
- Articles 232–237

Supremacy Clause:

- Federal law prevails in case of conflict on federal subjects (If the Center and the Province have a legal "argument" over a shared subject, the Center wins like dono na criminal law banaya hai or dono ka law says different things so the federal law is considered supreme)

Impact of 18th Amendment (2010)

Key outcomes:

- Abolition of Concurrent List
- Greater provincial autonomy
- Strengthened federation
- Decentralization of powers

One-Page Exam Summary

- Pakistan has a federal system (A state divided into a center and units is federal in nature i.e. capital (center) and provinces (units) that's federal system (under article 1))

Article 5

Article 5 of the Constitution of Pakistan, 1973 declares that loyalty to the State is the fundamental duty of every citizen, and obedience to the Constitution and law is obligatory.

Article 5 has two key points:

Article 5(1)

- Loyalty to Pakistan is the basic duty of every citizen

Article 5(2)

- Obedience to:
 - The Constitution
 - The law
 is mandatory for all citizens

Purpose of Article 5

- Ensures:
 - National unity
 - Respect for the Constitution
 - Rule of law
- Balances rights with responsibilities

Importance (Exam Points)

- Citizens enjoy rights only when they respect the Constitution
- Strengthens:
 - State authority
 - Constitutional supremacy

One-Line Exam Definition

“Article 5 makes loyalty to the State and obedience to the Constitution and law a fundamental duty of every citizen.”

Common Exam Confusion (Clarification)

- Article 5 is not a Fundamental Right
- It is a Fundamental Duty

Significance of Article 5

1. Foundation of Citizenship

- Defines the basic duty of every citizen
- Makes loyalty a constitutional obligation

Significance:

A citizen's rights are meaningful only when paired with loyalty to the State.

2. Ensures Supremacy of the Constitution

- Requires obedience to:
 - The Constitution
 - Laws made under it

Significance:

Prevents lawlessness and arbitrary behavior.

3. Strengthens Rule of Law

- Everyone is equal before law
- No one can act outside legal boundaries

Significance:

Promotes discipline and legal order in society.

4. Protects National Unity and Integrity

- Discourages:
 - Anti-state activities
 - Separatism
 - Treason

Significance:

Helps maintain sovereignty and territorial integrity.

5. Balances Rights with Duties

- Fundamental Rights (Arts. 8–28) exist alongside duties

Significance:

Prevents misuse of rights under the cover of freedom.

Illustration / Examples (Very Important)

Example 1: Obedience to Law

- A citizen follows traffic laws even when no police officer is present
→ This reflects obedience to law under Article 5.

Example 2: Respect for Constitution

- Accepting court judgments, even if unfavorable
→ Shows loyalty to constitutional authority.

Example 3: National Security

- A citizen refuses to support anti-state propaganda
→ Fulfils duty of loyalty to the State.

Example 4: Public Protest

- Peaceful protest within legal limits
→ Rights exercised without violating Article 5.

Example 5: Public Office

- A government officer performs duties honestly and lawfully
→ Demonstrates obedience to Constitution and law.

One-Line Exam Conclusion

Article 5 is significant because it establishes loyalty and obedience as the foundation of citizenship, ensuring constitutional supremacy, national unity, and the rule of law in Pakistan.
